PREFACE

I wish to dedicate this book to my loving husband and to thank Mrs. Frank Swan, Thelma Spencer, Charles Hannah, Dorthy and Patricia Lewellyn, Eva Lou Imler, Mrs. Fred Hood, Agnes Brady and the many other people that have helped in furnishing much valuable information about their families.

In 1932 I was elected Historian for the Lewellyn and Lewellen reunions held at Kokomo, Indiana; since then have written many letters and several telephone calls to parents, sons, daughters, brothers and sisters, hoping to bring each family to 1976. As I have been unable to get only a few documented records my hope is that what is recorded herein, is correct, but if an error is found I wish to apologize.

Behind each family of each of William and Mary's children there are two blank pages for the owner of this book to record future records of their family.

WILLIAM B. 1811 TAYLOR CO., VA (NOW WV)

CHAPTER I

William Lewellen[1]

The name Lewellen originated in Wales spelled Llewellyn and had two different pronounciations, one as if spelled Fluellyn, and the other as spelled Cluellyn. Therefore, when the immigrants landed in America the first L was dropped. The names and dates of the first immigrants are not known.

The following story has been handed down by word of mouth. The writer has been unable to find any records to prove or disprove the story.

William was a farmer in Taylor County, Virginia (now West Virginia), married Mary (Polly) Rector, born 1811 Virginia, date of marriage not known. Early 1846 he sold all property and with his wife and four children, migrated to Indiana in a covered wagon. On the way their fifth child was born some where in Indiana. They settled in Tipton County where their sixth and seventh children were born in 1850 and 1852. Soon afterward they moved onto the Howard and Grant County line, near Slash, now named Normal, where he had a saw mill and made shingles for roofs. Sometime between 1855 and 1860, William made a trip back to Virginia to his Mother's funeral. The exact place and his Mother's name is not known. On his way back to Indiana crossing the Ohio River on a ferry, there were sick people. By the time he arrived home he was very sick with the Black Plague, now called Smallpox. Eventually, the complete family was stricken with the dreadful disease. A man traveling through the country came by and saw the condition of the family. He stayed with them and by taking away all meat from their diet and giving them only vegetables and herbs found on the land, he was able to save all but the father, William.

William was taken out in the night in the dead of winter and buried in the woods on their property, the date is not known although the writer has seen the place and the board marker, but the date was not readable.
